

The late 1960's and early 1970's were a time of programs to encourage black attendance and success at the University, yet also a time of student unrest and dissatisfaction not just on campus but nationwide.